

RMIC's Recovery Assistance Program: Home Affordable Modification Program

RMIC's New Program Supporting the Home Affordable Modification Program

On March 4, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and the U.S. Treasury announced refinance and modification programs to help families in distress restructure or refinance their home loans as prescribed in the Administration's Homeowner Affordability and Stability Plan. RMIC's Recovery Assistance Program (RAP) is designed to complement and reinforce these programs that assist borrowers struggling to meet their loan obligations.

Delegated Authority under HAMP

Under the Home Affordable Modification Program (HAMP), RMIC provides delegated authority to servicers in most situations in order to quickly and easily help borrowers improve their ability to repay their obligation and avoid losing their home.

RMIC provides delegated authority to modify loans that are delinquent or at risk of imminent default with a verifiable hardship under HAMP, if the modification meets one of the following parameters:

- Fannie Mae's Home Affordable Modification Program
- Freddie Mac's Home Affordable Modification Program
- Non-GSE owned or securitized loans under the Treasury's HAMP passing the Net Present Value (NPV) test

Loan Qualifies for Delegated Authority
	YES	NO
Fannie Mae HAMP	X
Freddie Mac HAMP	X*
Non-GSE, Passed NPV Test	X
Non-GSE, Failed NPV Test		X

*Complete details of the delegation authority, terms, and limitations are provided in the "Freddie Mac Delegation Terms" document provided below.

Loans Not Meeting HAMP Delegation Guidelines

If a loan is not delegated or does not qualify for HAMP, simply submit to RMIC for consideration using the RMIC Notice of Modification/Assumption form. RMIC also has other delegation programs available for those not participating in the HAMP program. Please contact us for additional information at HAMPrequests@rmic.com.
